

V. ACKNOWLEDGMENT

This work would not have been possible without the financial support of St. Dominic College of Asia Research Development Office headed by their Director, Dr. Jonathan A. Adanza. I am especially indebted to Dr. Mary Nellie T. Roa, Dean of the School of Health Science Professions, who have been my mentor and counsellor throughout my nursing career. She had nurtured me to become a proactive professional who works actively and continuously to pursue my dreams. I am grateful to all of those with whom I have had the pleasure to work in this endeavour particularly my Co-faculty and participants of the study. Furthermore, I would also like to give my utmost gratitude to my parents and siblings, whose love and understanding were always with me in whatever endeavour I pursued. Most importantly, I wish to thank my loving and very supportive wife, Lalaine, and my two amazing kids, Jonnie & Lora, who provided me the incessant inspiration, determination and happiness. Lastly, I would like to thank our Almighty Creator for giving me the wisdom and strength to pursue and finished this scholarly work.
